

Sealmatic Achieves Prestigious ISO 29001 Certification

Sealmatic India Ltd (BSE Listed: 543782), is pleased to announce that it has successfully achieved prestigious ISO 29001 certification, the management systems for petroleum, petrochemical and natural gas industries. This globally recognized certification reflects a strong commitment to delivering consistent, reliable and high-performance solutions in some of the most demanding operating environments.

ISO 29001 is a specific quality management standard designed exclusively for organizations operating within the petroleum, petrochemical and natural gas industries. ISO 29001 integrates the many stringent requirements with additional criteria focused on risk management, defect prevention and reduction of variation and waste in the supply chain. It emphasizes consistency, traceability and reliability, key elements required in high risk and high-performance environments where even the smallest failure can have significant consequences.

“Achieving ISO 29001 certification involves a comprehensive evaluation of our quality management system, operational processes, documentation and overall adherence to industry specific requirements. For us, this journey was marked by rigorous internal preparations, detailed process alignments and a strong focus on continuous improvement. Each department worked collaboratively to ensure that systems were not only compliant but also efficient, transparent and robust. The audit process included a thorough examination of our engineering controls, procurement practices, manufacturing processes, testing procedures and documentation systems”
 – says; Mr. Shekhar Bhalerao – Manager (QMS Department)

The said certification reflects a continuous commitment to operational excellence and ongoing improvement. ISO 29001 is a foundation for the future. It reinforces the pursuit of excellence, strengthens internal systems and sets the direction for continuous growth. With this accomplishment, Sealmatic moves forward with greater confidence, stronger processes, and a commitment to delivering quality at every level.
